Notebook and Supply Check

You'll need the following for our notebook check Thurs 11/16. Remember, this is the first, and we'll add to this throughout the year to provide you with an orderly notebook. Therefore, you need ALL the pieces to receive credit. No partial credit offered on this.

You need three tabs with the following:

GOV Handouts:

- Unit Guide 3
- Unit Guide 2
- Conservative/Liberal Chart
- Understanding the Amendments (unit guide 1, p.9-10)
- Federalist Papers #10, 51 (unit 1, p. 11-13)
- Key Terms: Constitutional Underpinnings (unit 1, p. 5-6)
- Key Terms: Constitutional Clauses (unit 1, p. 7-8)
- AP GOV Syllabus
- Class Rules sheet, initialed

GOV Classwork:

Notes from lectures, presentations, mini-lessons. Remember you should be taking notes each class period. You will also have at least 25 sheets of loose-leaf paper in your binder, and your pens, pencils, highlighter, etc.

GOV Outlines:

Unit 1: Constitutional Underpinnings outlines (this includes all of your EIGHT outlines put in order with a cover page stapled to the top). This will help you review for semester tests and the AP exam in May. [If you are using a notebook, put that in this place for this check.]

Unit 2: Political Beliefs/Political Behaviors (this includes all of your SEVEN outlines put in order with a cover page stapled to the top). This will help you review for semester tests and the AP exam in May. [If you are using a notebook, put that in this place for this check.]

Interest Groups & Public Policy

1. Bipartisanship: support from both parties for policy, e.g., a bipartisan foreign policy.
2. Budget deficit: results when federal expenditures exceed federal revenues for a one year period.
3. Deficit spending: the federal government's practice of spending more money than it takes in as revenues.
4. Deregulation: elimination of federal regulations on private companies.
5. Entitlements: federal benefit payments to which recipients have a legal right, e.g., Social Security. Also known as uncontrollables.
6. Fiscal policy: taxing and spending policies.
7. Means testing: requiring that those who receive federal benefits show a need for them.
8. Monetary policy: Federal Reserve Board's regulation of the supply of money in circulation.
9. National debt: total debt owed by the federal government due to past borrowing. Also known as the public debt.
10. Subsidy: federal financial aid to individuals, e.g., welfare, food stamps, agricultural subsidies.
11. Hard Money – campaign contributions regulated and limited by the federal government that are given directly to a candidate
12. Soft Money – unlimited and unregulated campaign contributions to federal candidates and the national parties. Supposedly for generic “party building” activities (ex: get-out-the-vote drives, bumper stickers, yard signs, and “issue ads”)
13. Political Action Committee (PAC) – officially registered fund-raising organization that represents interest groups in the political process.
14. 527 Groups – Tax-exempt organizations created to raise money for political activities such as voter mobilization efforts and issue ads
15. 501c Groups – Nonprofit, tax-exempt interest groups that can engage in varying levels of political activity
16. Super PACs - PACs may raise and spend unlimited sums of money in order to advocate for or against political candidates.
17. Tillman Act (1907) – the first legislation in the United States prohibiting monetary contribution to national political campaigns by corporations.
18. Federal Election Campaign Act (1971, 1974) – increased disclosure of contributions for federal campaigns and 1974 amendments placed legal limits on the campaign contributions.
19. Bipartisan Campaign Reform Act (a.k.a. McCain-Feingold Act) – banned national parties and officeholders from raising and spending “soft money,” and prohibited corporations and unions from funding “electioneering communications” within 30 days before a primary or 60 days before a general election.

- 20. Buckley v. Valeo (1976) – candidates spending money to finance their own campaigns is a form of constitutionally protected free speech through the 1st Amendment
- 21. McConnell v. Federal Election Commission (2003) - upheld most of BCRA ruling that restrictions on free speech justified by government’s interest to prevent corruption in campaigns
- 22. Citizens United v. Federal Election Commission (2010) – ruled spending is protected speech under the 1st Amendment and the government cannot prohibit spending by corporations and labor unions to support or denounce individual candidates in elections

TYPES OF PUBLIC POLICIES

TYPE	DEFINITION	EXAMPLE
Congressional statute	Law passed by Congress	Americans with Disabilities Act
Presidential action	Decision by President	Sending troops to Haiti
Court decision	Opinion by Supreme Court or other court	Brown v. Board
Regulation	Agency adoption of rule or regulation	FDA approval of a new drug

Annenberg Learner- Interest Groups: Organizing to Influence

http://www.learner.org/courses/democracyinamerica/dia\_14/dia\_14\_video.html

Pre-Viewing Activity and Discussion (30 minutes)

Before viewing the video, discuss the following questions:

- What kinds of activities do interest groups use to influence policy-making?
- The general impression of interest groups is that they are the domain of big business and organized labor. Is this true?
- Think about your own interests. Are they represented by any organized group? What are they?

Watch the Video (30 minutes) and Discuss

The video includes three segments:

1. The Battle Over Crusader

Most long-lasting interest groups focus on advancing the economic interests of their members. Because their members have a strong economic incentive to band together, they are likely to be well-funded professional organizations that can employ lobbyists and mount sophisticated public relations campaigns. The battle over the Crusader weapons system presents an example of how one economic interest used its resources to influence the policy process. In the end it was decided that Crusader would remain "canceled," but United Defense would still retain a $475-million contract to continue the development of Crusader's cannon. That contract would employ workers in several congressional districts, which was a major concern of Congress members. The Army gained progress toward a new weapons system, while the consultants, lobbyists, and public relations specialists who worked on behalf of United Defense got nice commissions for their work.

Discussion Questions

- Why did members of Congress come to the defense of United Defense?
- What kinds of tactics did United Defense use to fend off efforts to kill the Crusader?
- In the end, was United Defense successful?
- What is the iron triangle?

2. Organizing From the Heart: The Battle Over Reauthorization of the 1996 Welfare Reform Law

Citizen action groups advocate on a wide range of social and environmental issues, and use many of the same tactics as economic groups to reach decision makers. But often they must rely more on mobilizing their membership to act in an organized and concerted way. The battle over reauthorization of the Welfare Reform Act illustrates the mobilization efforts of one citizen action group.

Discussion Questions

- Who does the National Campaign for Jobs and Income Support represent?
- What motivated Ladon James to become involved in the campaign?
- Since this is a citizen action without large cash reserves, what tactics did the group utilize to influence policy-makers?

3. David and Goliath Go at It Again: The South Pasadena Freeway Fight

Sometimes the most effective groups are local grassroots organizations dedicated to a single cause. Lacking financial resources and permanent organizations, these groups rely on committed citizens to write letters, make phone calls, and sometimes to demonstrate, all in pursuit of their cause. The fight over a freeway plan in the Los Angeles suburb of South Pasadena is a good example of a grassroots organization in action.

Discussion Questions

- How is the grassroots organization in this story different from a citizen action group?
- What kinds of tactics did the Anti-Meridan group use to fight the freeway?
- What do you think has motivated these people to keep up the fight over a couple of generations?

Socratic Seminar Introduction

AP Government & Politics

Mr. Coia

Article: Various resources on Citizens United case

Essential Question: "Does the Citizens United case threaten democracy?"

Socratic Seminars -- Grading Rubric

A major goal of this class is to develop the student's skill to analyze a text, and then demonstrate that analysis through speaking and writing. Socratic seminars seek to give the student the opportunity to demonstrate a level of understanding of a text and the ability to apply those ideas through the spoken word.

Rules

1. Students read a text provided by the teacher.
2. The group sits in two circles.
3. No put-downs or arguments.
4. All members must participate to be evaluated.
5. There is no single right or wrong answer to the essential question.

Procedures

1. No raising hands. Speak when appropriate.
2. This is a student-led discussion. The teacher is not a participant in the discussion, but an active observer.
3. The teacher will evaluate the students based on the grading rubric included in this information.
4. Refer to the text / source material whenever possible.

Uses text- Use text during the Socratic Seminar. Refer to it for evidence. Evidence and examples are essential to your grade and are a habit of mind you should have.

Number of Comments- How often did you speak? Did you interrupt people? Don't talk to the teacher, talk to the class. You will lose points if you are talking while others are trying to score points.

Asks or responds to questions- Do you listen to what others are saying? Did you ask a question to the group or did you respond to a question posed to the group?

Answers Essential Question- Refer directly to the EQ. Be very clear that you are answering the EQ.

Socratic Seminar Grading Criteria

Total _____/20 discussion _____/5 evaluation notes

Christmas Song Satire

Assignment

Students will write a politically-satirical version of a well-known holiday song. This song will be performed in front of the entire class, and count as a Unit Test/Project grade for 25 points.

Requirements

- The song must include at least three (3) verses (not including the chorus).
- You must try to incorporate material from the course and material from current political affairs (Here is where current events come in handy!). If you could have written this in August, something is wrong.
- Props, signs, costumes, masks, instruments are needed.
- Feel free to be funny. However, use good taste and stay within the requirements. Profanity and vulgarity are NOT allowed and will result in a zero. If you are unsure about the appropriateness of your performance, see me FIRST.
- You can work in a group of one, two, or three. However, all students need to be ACTIVELY in the performance.
- A video version is preferable to a stage version. Share the video with me the DAY BEFORE your presentation.
- You can partner with the other class, but you both need to be at both performances.

A copy of the final version of the song (typed) is due two class periods BEFORE the presentation.

DUE:

Wed 12/6: Print version due

Wed 12/13, Fri 12/15: Presentations

Scoring:

Creative, original writing shows understanding of course content _____ / 10

Performance is interesting and engaging _____ / 10

Work shows that effort and time went into the project _____ / 5

Students went above listed assignment and is especially powerful/interesting/creative up to +10
